"where the prelate himself was pastor for more than thirty years. This is the first visit to Philadelphia since the funeral of the late ex-postmaster general of the United States, Judge James Campbell, on which occasion he preached the sermon in St. Mary's church. During the interval Bishop O'Hara has been twice so dangerously ill that it was feared the result would prove fatal. Last summer he spent several weeks at Cape May, at the cottage of his brother, Dr. M. O'Hara, one of the pension examiners here. Since then he has so greatly improved in health as to surprise the numerous friends and admirers who have called to see him while in this city."

REV. SKELLINGER'S FAREWELL

Retires from Pastorate of Washburn Street Presbyterian Church—Victory for No. 14 School Foot Ball Club.

Rev. D. W. Skellinger, of the Washburn Street Presbyterian church, closed his pastorate yesterday by preaching an eloquent sermon in St. David's hall last evening. A large number were present. At 10:30 in the morning a communion service was held and four children were baptized. The subject of Mr. Skellinger's discourse last evening was "Unchanging Christ." His text was taken from Hebrews, xii, 1, saying: "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today and forever; and Matthew, xxviii, 20, saying: "Lo! I am with you always." Mr. Skellinger spoke in his usual characteristic and forcible manner, conveying to the minds of his hearers Christ's constancy and the faith His people should have. Regarding the closing of his pastorate, Mr. Skellinger said but little.

He will leave with his wife for Washington, D. C., some day this week, where he has accepted a call to assume the pastorate of the Sixth Presbyterian church of that city. He is of a quiet, unassuming disposition and was a great favorite among the members of the church. During his stay here he organized the Chi Upsilon society, which now ranks among the leading literary societies of the city. A few evenings ago he was presented with an Oxford Bible and a parlor lamp as a token of the esteem in which he is held.

On Sunday next, Rev. F. Von Krug, of Kingston, will preach to the members of the Washburn Street church. He has been appointed by the Presbyterian board to proclaim the pulpit vacant.

Amateur Foot Ball.

About 200 people assembled on Gannon's bill at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning to witness a game of foot ball between the teams representing No. 14 and the high schools. Referee Harold Battin called the game and the teams lined up in the following order:

14. HIGH SCHOOL. Phillips, center; Chase, right half back; Alex. Clark, left half back; Morris, full back; Clark, right guard; Nye, left guard; Gallaher, right tackle; Phillips, left tackle; Keen, right end; Williams, left end; Myers, right guard; Martin, left guard; Pettit, full back.

In the first half of the game Ernest Joseph, of the No. 14 team, succeeded in making a touchdown on a brilliant 65-yard dash. Edward Clark, of the same team, followed by kicking the goal. No scoring was done in the second half, and the game closed with a score of 6 to 0 in favor of No. 14 school. Both teams did excellent playing and every point was closely contested. No. 14 team has won five games in succession from various teams.

TOMB OF JOHN THE BAPTIST.

Interesting Personal Experiences of Rev. Henry H. Jessup in the Far East.

Rev. Henry H. Jessup, brother of John Jessup, delivered an entertaining address last night at the First Presbyterian church, bearing upon his experiences in Syria, from which country he has just returned after an absence of ten years.

Mr. Jessup quoted the thirteenth verse of Psalm 145, "Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations." This verse, he said, was inscribed on the lintel of the old mosque at Damascus, the original church of St. John the Baptist, and was created in the second century, but the words "O Christ" had been inserted, making it read "Thy kingdom, O Christ." The Mahometans did not perceive this alteration at first, but they divided the mosque by one great wall, giving the Christians one half of the mosque and retaining on their own side the tomb of the prophet, so that the Christians entirely away. The colossal wall was destroyed by fire, reducing the tomb of St. John the Baptist to ashes, and destroying several libraries of priceless value. The Moslems would not allow any report of the catastrophe to appear in the papers or permit any telegraphic reports to be sent, so great was their dread of the calamity being known.

Referring to social habits, Mr. Jessup stated that the habit of smoking was inveterate, and indulged in by men, women, boys and girls. As to marriage, it was not so surprising that they were a failure, as the men never saw or did not know the bride until after the wedding ceremony was over, and the Syrian women in visiting Christian households were humiliated by the inferiority they could not but confess to, and consequently, the girls were sent to the Christian schools. Ultimately they had schools of their own.

With regard to the question whether these people would become Christians, the reverend gentleman answered the question by describing several cases of conversions which came under his observation, and especially with regard to a young Mahometan who accomplished great work in Christian life.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH SIDE

Another Big Republican Rally Held Saturday Night on This Side.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM PREVAILED

Eloquent Speeches Made with Protection as the Main Topic—Sermon of Rev. F. A. Dony on Sabbath Observance.

The Republican rally Saturday night at Workingman's hall was a crowded meeting and bristling with enthusiasm. Jacob Mantz, one of the prominent South Side Republicans, was chairman, and on the platform besides the speakers were some of the candidates and Republicans of prominence in county politics.

Attorney John M. Harris was first introduced and his speech was an effort of eloquence and logic. Before concluding he cited facts and figures which were clearly and intelligently put, exhibiting the false doctrines of free trade in the light of true light. Mr. Harris recounted the candidates separately and gave each a worthy tribute.

Alex T. Connell, candidate for representative, was the next speaker. His discourse was a lucid diagnosis of the industrial depression and the causes responsible for it.

R. A. Zimmerman followed Mr. Connell, and although he has been heard more than once on this side, each time he gracefully manages to have something new and not less forcible on that account.

Civil Engineer Edmund A. Bartl was the last speaker, and his address was in the German language. He counseled his hearers to support the Republican party and vote for all of its candidates from the highest to the lowest. He spoke most eloquently of J. C. Vaughan, candidate for state senator.

Sermon of F. A. Dony. Rev. F. A. Dony preached last night at the Cedar Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, the subject of "Sabbath Observance." His text was the fourth commandment, "Remember keep holy the Sabbath day." He depicted a beautiful allegory from the scene that was spread out before his eyes. God's sunlight flooded the valley beneath and the picture reminded him of the church.

What the sunlight is to creation the Sabbath is to Christianity. He recounted the dangers to the Sabbath and advocated churches and church societies to band together and save the day from worldly business and desecration.
